The History of the Hay bath

Officially speaking, hay baths have been on offer in Völs am Schlern since 1903. The tradition itself, however, dates back to a much earlier age: Read on to find out about the healing powers of the herbs so familiar to our forebears.

Written records tell us that the people of the Alps have used mountain herbs to heal and ease pain, boost the body's defences and enhance general health since the Middle Ages but, in all likelihood, the practice has much older roots.

Natural healer and pastor Sebastian Kneipp (1821-1897) recommended taking hay baths to treat rheumatism and sciatica, and the great Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827) also considered them to be exceptionally relaxing.

In 1901, Stephan Pramstrahler's maternal great-grandfather, Anton Kompatscher - endorsed by a Dr. Josef Clara, local doctor of Völs at that time - requested permission from the Imperial and Royal Governorship in Innsbruck to open an inn with a hay bath, in the premises which went on to become today's Hotel Heubad in Obervöls.

Permission was granted in 1903, but by that time, the unofficial provision of hay treatments had already reached widespread popularity throughout the State of Tyrol. "Seven hay baths and nine (!)

wine baths" was the motto of the day – although, needless to say, the wine was simply drunk.

Hay bathing has always been a sociable event, which is why we would dearly love to preserve the tradition: Here in the pine-panelled hay bath of the Turm, sweating as we put the world to rights is so much fun!

WHAT'S IN THE ALPINE HAY?

Ever since 1993, the quality of the hay used in South Tyrol has been subject to regulations outlined in two Provincial Decrees (no. 12/93 and no. 7/94).

To name some examples, the grass or hay used for hay baths must be sourced from Alpine meadows of minimum of 1,500 m above sea level, must not have been treated with mineral fertilisers or herbicides, and must grow at a distance of at least 150 m from roads. In compliance with these regulations, our own hay comes from the meadows of the Moartl Alm on the Seiser Alm, at approximately 2,050 metres. Our 7 hectares of Alpine meadows have received certification and are, therefore, approved for hay baths.

Alpine hay is filled with a veritable encyclopaedia of Alpine herbs, ranging from amica to self-heal, calendula, thistle, gentian, lady's mantle, quaking grass and many more. Careful harvesting, thorough drying and appropriate storage methods ensure that all of their powers are retained without diminishing their quality.

THE TREATMENT

Research has demonstrated that hay baths are a much more gentle treatment than mud baths or mud packs.

You can take either a “wet” or a “dry” hay bath in the Turm. In a dry hay bath, you lie down in a waterbed, where you are enveloped in hay and covered with a blanket. As the hay warms through it releases essential oils and, over the subsequent 20 minutes, the endless shapes and forms of its leaves, flowers and stalks stimulate the skin; this causes the body to sweat which, together with the mild overheating of the body and a slightly quickened heart rate, enhances detoxification.

During a “wet” hay bath, you climb into a wooden bathtub and lie down on a hay cushion in the warm waters of the Schlern (also known as the “blood of the Schlern”). During the 20-minute treatment, the infinite array of active ingredients in the grasses, flowers and herbs dissolve in the water and their concentrated essences work their magic directly on your skin.

Both of these treatments are a power-pack of goodness for body, mind and soul.

Scientific research calls our attention to the 8 to 10-month effect that a cycle of 7 to 8 hay baths provides in the easing of arthrosis, sciatica, rheumatism, sleep disorders, digestive disorders, and mental and physical fatigue. More generally, hay baths boost the blood circulation, stimulate the metabolism, enhance relaxation, strengthen the immune system and improve the functions of the skin.

Exceptional wine bath on the hot stone

Wine Marc Bath With Grape Seed Oil Massage

Our wine bath is a special experience you can enjoy on your own or together with your partner. First you enjoy an enzymatic whole body peeling with cold pressed wine marc that gently removes the dead skin cells through the fruit acids and gives you soft and delicate skin. Then you will be treated to a soothing grape oil massage lying on a hot stone. To make sure that you feel the special effect of the wine marc and the wine not only from the outside but also from the inside, we serve you a glass of South Tyrolean Lagrein with this treatment - because what would a wine bath be without a glass of wine?

for 1 person 70 minutes ... Euro 125 for 2 people 100 minutes ... Euro 185

Honey Brine Peeling With Wine Marc

Full body peeling with wine marc, organic Alpine honey and a blend of salts to refine the appearance of your skin. Already in the Middle Ages wine products were used for cosmetic purposes. The gentle heat of the hot stone is extremely relaxing. Peeling removes dead skin cells and is therefore recommended before every massage and body treatment so that the skin is better able to absorb the care products and oils.

Massages On The Waterbed By Candlelight

Swiss Mountain Pine Massage

Thanks to the Swiss pine oil from South Tyrol's Val Sarentino this classic full body massage is a truly special experience. Swiss mountain pine, locally also called "mountain blessing", is the probably oldest plant in Val Sarentino that is used for medical purposes. The essential mountain pine oil nourishes the skin and stimulates the blood flow. It revitalises body, mind and soul with its characteristic resinous forest fresh aroma, leading to natural wellbeing.

50 minutes ... Euro 80

Melum Pistil Massage

The bundle massage, enriched with apples, uses particularly natural products: not only are apples a very popular and widespread fruit in South Tyrol, they also contain important substances such as pectins, flavonoids, vitamins A, B, C and E, and are therefore an important weapon in the fight against wrinkles. They are also very good for your heart. Apples, Swiss pine oil and our secret spice mix ensure that this popular massage is a fantastic experience. Thanks to the unique movements with the apple bundles and the heat rushing through your body, you will feel like being born again.

50 minutes ... Euro 95

Pantai Luar

During Pantai Luar the body will be massaged with hot stamps and a warm oil of plant extracts. This massage will relax and revitalise the body, because thanks to the special mixture of the active ingredients the blood supply to the skin is improved, muscle tensions are reduced and toxins are softly drawn from the body. The herbs, spices and fruits will have a calming effect on you.

50 minutes ... Euro 98

Hot Stone

A different kind of massage! Instead of hand pressure, this massage uses lava stones! The hot lava stones and the pleasantly warm sunflower oil activate healing powers and achieve very deep relaxation.

80 minutes ... Euro 125

Romantic Emperor Bath

Our baths in the emperor tub are particularly romantic for you and your partner: candlelight and a glass of sparkling wine will accompany you.

Cleopatra Bath

Particularly nourishing for the skin thanks to a blend of milk, honey and olive oil. Look forward to a treat once enjoyed by Egyptian queen Cleopatra.
